Campground Fee Schedule Announced

Fees ranging from $1 to $4 will be charged at 231 campgrounds in the National Forests of Oregon and Washington this year, according to Regional Forester R.E. (Dick) Worthington, Pacific Northwest Region of the Forest Service.

Another 772 campgrounds in the National Forests of the two states can still be used without charge. A few campgrounds that sustained winter storm and vandalism damage may be closed indefinitely.

Fees for overnight use will be charged only at campgrounds having designated tent or trailer spaces, drinking water, access roads, refuse containers, toilet facilities, campfire facilities, reasonable visitor protection, and where uniform fee collection can be assured. There are 13 campgrounds where charges are made for group or organizational camping.

About 65 percent of the fees collected are used for operation and administration. Ten percent is earmarked for Forest highways, and the balance is returned to the counties for schools and roads.

No fees are charged for other developed sites such as picnic areas, boat ramps, and visitor centers.

Persons 62 or older and anyone accompanying them are entitled to use campground facilities at one-half the regular fee with a Golden Age Passport. By showing proof of age, the passports may be obtained free at most Forest Service Offices.

Forest users are reminded that individual National Forest and Wilderness maps cost 50 cents each.
